Bliss GVS has established brand operations in existing markets that provide an ideal platform to extend the Bliss GVS product portfolio and with that, build new revenue streams. On the back of significant expansion across both Pharmaceutical & Healthcare verticals, the Company could be poised for an accelerated growth

We expect that going ahead overall bottomline growth in the next 3 years starting FY17 onwards should easily increase at a CAGR of 30-35% with the ROE and ROCE is also expected to improve to 26% and 24% and 25% and 27% by FY19 and FY20.

The Bliss GVS stock trades at a P/E of 11x and 10x based on FY19E and FY20E, which does not look very expensive looking at future potential for the domestic prospects for the company going ahead.

Looking at Bliss GVS's healthy financials and strong return ratios we expect the company to do well in future also. Bliss GVS Pharma sells in over 35 countries but nearly 90% of its revenue comes from Africa. The company manufactures suppositories, pessaries, anti-malarial tablets, dry syrups, injectables and ointments. It has a portfolio of some 60 products in the anti-malarial segment. Its most popular drug is Lonarta, which is sold in African markets such as Ghana, Rwanda and Tanzania. Suppositories and pessaries is a niche segment with limited competition. Zydus Cadila is the only Indian rival in this segment.

Hence we believe that the Bliss GVS stock should be purchased at the current price for a price target of around Rs 350 over the next 12 to 18 months.
